Worst Blizzard In Long Time

Driven before a high north wind snow piled and drifted and drove into every nook and cranny of buildings, buried roads and piled into drifts from four to ten feet high in the lee of buildings, in one of the worst blizzards in years.

Starting Monday evening at 7 p.m. the wind moaned and howled all night long, all day Tuesday and Tuesday night, and it was Wednesday noon before there was really a break in the violence of the blizzard. Traffic was at a stand still. The bus made it down from Cardston Tuesday morning but did not even attempt to leave Lethbridge that night and the mail was sent out on the train Wednesday. No public school was held Tuesday, there being only 56 students in attendance out of an enrollment of 550, and on Wednesday neither school was in session.

Business houses were open as usual, but there was very little going, and streets were deserted. The moisture is of course welcome, and will be a big benefit to stubble and hay land, but not so much to summerfallow as the wind blew it off except in places where little holes and ridges held it up some.

Stockmen have not checked on herds yet, but there is bound to be some losses, as cattle would undoubtedly drift with the storm. No deaths or suffering have been reported to date, despite the weather keeping mild, despite the severity of the storm.

Night flying on the western link of the T.C.A. route is expected to start today. Officials maintain, the service, when in full operation, will be equal to any service anywhere in the world.

A. Z. Jessup, pioneer newspaper man of Alberta, and editor of the Nanton News for a great many years, passed away at his home in Nanton Tuesday evening at 6:30. He was highly respected in the newspaper fraternity of the Province. His two sons, Ralph, editor of the Macleod Gazette, and Clyde, who has been helping in Nanton, are both highly respected. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved relatives left to mourn Mr. Jessup's passing. He was 72.

COLEMAN GIRL VICTIM OF C. P. R. FREIGHT

BLODWIN LEWIS, 12, DIES IN HOSPITAL — FAILED TO HEAR ENGINE WHISTLE

BRAKES APPLIED ENGINEER STATES

Coleman, March 28—Blodwin Lewis, 12 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lewis, was struck and fatally injured by an eastbound Canadian Pacific freight train Sunday afternoon within the town limits. She was walking on the railway tracks when hit by the train.

Mrs. D. E. Martin, an eye witness, giving opposite the scene of the fatality, said the child was thrown into the ditch by the impact. A strong wind was blowing at the time and it may be the girl failed to hear the sound of the approaching train.

DIES IN HOSPITAL
Compound fracture of the leg and head injuries caused death in the Coleman hospital at 3:55 p.m.—Lethbridge Herald.

NEWS NOTES

Frank O'Sullivan, Lethbridge, was a Raymond visitor on Thursday.

P. J. Christensen of the Lawnview Mortuary of Lethbridge was in Raymond Wednesday and Thursday.

John F. Salmon has purchased a new Chevrolet Coach from the Central Service Station at Cardston.

Pres. H. S. Allen returned on Wednesday from his sojourn in Utah during the most of the past winter. He spent Tuesday night in Lethbridge and arrived on Wednesday's train.

The Piano recital of the pupils of Miss Muriel Phillips, which should have been held last Wednesday evening has been postponed a week because of the weather. Read her ad for details.

John Frouws Lethbridge, who was assisting in the search for Lorne Birch, early last month and was drowned, was found near one of the piers of the C.P.R. bridge Friday afternoon last.

Pres. H. F. Allen and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wing left this morning for Salt Lake City to attend the Annual Conference of the L.D.S. Church in Salt Lake City.

Wm. McLeod pulled out for Lethbridge Thursday morning with his caterpillar and elevated grader. No doubt he had some real drifts to buck between here and the Welling turn at least.

Even the Factory crew had a holiday Wednesday because of the blizzard and blocked roads. A snow plow, pulled by a four horse team, opened the road Thursday and the bus was able to make it through as usual then.

This fall of snow should ensure an ample supply of water to fill the Town dam. The City Dads are hopeful now that no damage will result from the run off, as the gravel facing and rip rapping are not completed yet, the dirt work just having been finished the first of the week.

The local Athletic officials are in communication with Dominion officials in Vancouver to see what can be arranged in the way of rates for the British Columbia basketball representatives, and as soon as definite information is received, then the local organization will get busy in their preparations for the playoff series. Watch for announcement.

No deliveries from local stores were made Tuesday afternoon nor Wednesday and Mr. John Citizen was hugging the necessities of life and nutrition home in his arms. Service returned to normal Thursday morning although delivery men were ploughing drifts that almost stalled the horses.

Mrs. Jeffrey's daughter, Cora, is here visiting her mother and brother for a few weeks. She was in Sweet Grass in time to make connections with the train that came out here Wednesday, but she had to have some papers attested before she came on and before this had been attended left her. She arrived in Raymond on today's train.

Jacks Again Win Alberta Title

And once again the Senior Basketball Championship of Alberta will rest in Raymond for the coming year. Union Jacks annexed the title by trouncing the Polar Bears of the University of Alberta to the tune of 38-20 in a sudden-death game in Memorial Hall, Calgary, on Saturday night last.

The team left Raymond Friday morning for a return game with the Calgary Grills Friday night, and the Edmonton question unsettled, but a strong suspicion that it would be a sudden-death game Saturday night while the boys were in Calgary.

In the Friday night game the Grills won by a score of 49-40, but in the two-game total point series, the Jacks won by a total score of 107 to 79. The boys played Friday only as hard as they had to, saving the big drive for Saturday night when they were meeting an unknown quantity in the University team, which copped the northern championship and were said to have fire in their eye and determination to win the Provincial honors if at all possible. Well, it wasn't.

We probably should not take much space for either game. They were good, but the Jacks in winning the crown proved themselves the undisputed champions of the senior class. Royrig, coach of the Calgary Grills, made a difference to the team but not difference enough to make them a match for the Union Jacks.

In the Saturday night game, Jacks have played few games this winter where their team work showed up to better advantage than on that occasion. The University players were fast, and for the first half of the game interest was keen, the score see-sawing back and forth, and the half-time ended 16-10 for Raymond. The first ten minutes of play however, showed that the Jacks were as good, if not better than the University players, and despite the constant charging on the University lineup, the Jacks in the second half gradually drew away from the northerners, and during the last seven minutes of play held the Bears without a point. Close checking by the Jacks spoiled the passes and combination of the Bears, and Donny, who was guarding Sammy Moscovitch, simply buried Sammy and kept him from getting away on his plays.

While fans from Raymond were not so numerous, they were enthusiastic and kept the boys encouraged, giving about all the pep there was to the game; Calgary fans being conspicuous by their absence and very quiet, those who were there.

NOTES ON THE TRIP

Most of the Raymond cars and people took advantage of the opportunity afforded and returned home via Turner Valley, visiting hell's half acre and other points of interest. Turner Valley needs a better road into High River, and it seems with the amount of freighting to be done it would be good business for the Government to gravel this link.

Raymond fans, especially the ladies, drawing venomous remarks from University players because of their enthusiasm.

Raymond sports looking for takers but finding none for little side bet on the game. They don't take their basketball as seriously up north as we do.

The Hon. Solon Low enjoying the game, and supporting the Jacks, despite his residence in the University city.

A great deal of building has taken place in Turner Valley in the past three years or so, the oil field and building activity moving south all the time. Small and hastily constructed shacks, however, do not spell permanency, because of the few men needed to operate an oil field once the drilling is over and the wells brought under control.

The new link of highway built last year between Macleod and High River will make a good improvement in the road when surfaced, and cut out many turns. In the interest of economy it seems too bad that this route could not have been surveyed in the first place.

Hans Anderson, Byrd Mendenhall, Agnes Roberts and Irene Redd at school in Calgary and apparently feeling fine and wishing to be remembered to the folks at home. Also David Wood with the University team and looking fine, also desiring to be remembered to his friends in Raymond.

The Raymondites, with the York Hotel as their headquarters apparently enjoying the city and their visiting to schools, churches and the big stores on Saturday.

Speaking to a group of teachers in Toronto Saturday night, Hon. R. B. Bennett stated that ruin faced Canada unless harmony could be restored between Provinces and the Dominion.

Sam Dyson, when he returned from the pump house Tuesday afternoon at 5 p.m. said he saw more snow Tuesday than he had seen all winter. Drifts had cuts and the coulees filled level full.

The old horse proved the safest means of locomotion this week after the blizzard had piled up drifts that one could hardly see over and streets were blocked. Efforts by the Council to get roads and streets cleared resulted in a little travel on Friday. Generally speaking cars were having a vacation.

THE LOCAL PAPER

No man is too poor to take his local newspaper, and it is false economy to try to get along without it. Hardly a week passes that something does not appear in its columns which will be a financial benefit to you, and by the end of the year you have made or saved from one to twenty times its subscription price, says the Kingsville Reporter, and we heartily concur with the statement. The city papers do not take the place of your local paper, although some people seem to think they do. The city papers are alright in their way, but they do not give you what you are most interested in in your community. You cannot learn from them when public meetings are held, who are dying and who are marrying, who are moving out and who want to sell land—in fact, hundreds of items which might be of particular importance to you. Such matters city papers cannot furnish, but your local paper does.

Fathers and Sons Night At Rotaty

Mrs. H. C. Huddle Passes Away

Mrs. H. C. Huddle, aged 77, pioneer of Raymond district, passed away Tuesday morning after a short but serious illness. The funeral services will be held in the Stake House, Sunday, April 3 at 2 p.m. under the direction of the First Ward Bishopric and burial will take place in the local cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Huddle had recently celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary and while deceased has been in ill-health, and suffered from loss of sight, for many years she was lively and happy, and up until quite recently seemed to be in her usual health. Her passing was not unexpected as she had been very bad since Friday of last week.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. Huddle in his sorrow, as he is well along in years and will greatly miss the companionship and care of his wife. Due to distance and the condition of the roads it is not expected that many of the children will be able to be here for the services.

Monday evening was Fathers and Sons night for Rotary in Raymond and about 45 dads and lads are present for the meeting held in the United Church with Pres. A. H. Zabriskie in charge.

Piano solos were rendered by Teddy Brewerton and Jimmy May and two vocal solos by Stephen Wood, accompanied by Miss Alma Redd at the piano. Rotarian T. Geo. Wood had arranged a number of motion pictures for the evening, and every one certainly enjoyed the travel scenes of Egypt, Java, Hong Kong harbor and other distant places. One reel of local and familiar scenes during beet harvest and at the Factory caused much amusement and such well known characters as Mr. Rogers, T. Geo. Wood, F. R. Taylor, Wm. Wilde, Reg. Cooper, Will Selman Ken Knight and others of the Factory employees were in the movies and they didn't go to Hollywood for a screen test either.

Hot dogs and a bottle of pop for each brought a successful evening to a close, and the boys will be looking forward eagerly to the next evening with their dads.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

You don't have to go to some other city to buy good merchandise. Your local merchants carry big stocks of reasonable, up-to-date goods. Buy from your HOME MERCHANTS -- it helps your city.

Organized effort on behalf of the business men will make BETTER BUSINESS. Better business builds your city.

The man who succeeds in business is no great wonder. He merely went ahead and got the business while the other fellow sat around and said it couldn't be done.

The development and expansion of the manufacturing, wholesale and retail business of your city means a growing city.

Every assistance to the development of your agricultural section should be given. As agricultural sections develop more business will develop.

It is a well established fact that for every three families living in a town or city there should be a family on a farm, doing its own production of food. DON'T OVERLOOK THE FARMER. HE IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE BUILDING OF YOUR GROWING CITY.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE UNION JACKS

Once again the famed Union Jacks have come through another successful basketball season, and have brought the Alberta Provincial Championship to Raymond. We say, congratulations, boys; Raymond is proud of you and the record you have made. That we still have a strong basketball machine has been proven many times, but possibly never more decisively than in the recent Lethbridge game, when the boys came from behind a twelve point lead at half time to win the game. These things don't just happen they take team work and ability. If for nothing else the members of the team, their coach Dean Rolfsen and the officials of the Raymond Athletic Association are deserving of our thanks.

There is another thing the boys might well be jubilant over and we believe they are, and that is the way the people have and do support them. It must be quite discouraging for a team to practise night after night throughout a season, win their way into playoffs, and then have less than a hundred fans assemble to watch the games. It maybe isn't any wonder that the team rather loses heart.

Our team and organization is planning now for the entertainment of the British Columbia champions in the best two out of three series to take place April 8th and 9th, and as citizens and fans, we will be asked to show our faith in and appreciation of the boys and their work by getting a guarantee ready so that the visitors may be brought in. No definite decision has been reached as to what will be done but it has suggested that an advance sale of tickets for the series be held and the proceeds from this sale used to bring the visitors in. If this is done, we appeal to the citizens of our town to bestir themselves and get their tickets well in advance so that the officials will not have to worry about this end of it. If we can get by that easy it should be worth it. Surely to have a team that retains a provincial title as long as the Jacks have done is worth something, to assist them in their finals, especially when we get our money's worth should be no great thing. Whatever is done we hope fans will see the series through. As we get any further, and then again we might. Some observers placed the present team on a par with any we have floor in the past five or six years and in that event, while we may not get past this playoff series the visitors will know they have been in a Basketball game before the time is over. The boys are in good condition, they have good endurance, and their system of passing and getting right in under makes their shots count; and the guards make it plenty tough for opposing forwards to make much of a score. At any rate, it would be discouraging indeed and a black eye to future basketball if we failed to see this series through. It has been very rare that a play off has not played for itself in gate receipts, and with the present storm tying up farming operations indefinitely, there seems no good reason why we should not have a sell out house for both games of this series.

Let's show the players and the Association that we appreciate what has been accomplished so far in the season by helping put this series over big.

OUR EDMONTON LETTER (T. B. Windross)

Edmonton—Alberta last week followed the lead set by Ontario not long ago in discontinuing financial support for Government House, official residence of His Honor Lieutenant-Governor J. O. Bowen. During discussion of estimates Friday evening the back benchers made it quite clear to the govt. that they were opposed to even such expenses as chauffeur, secretary, stationery and travelling costs being born by the province. They were cut out of the coming year's expenditures—and Government House will be put to some other use after March 31.

This doesn't mean that the province will not have a representative of His Majesty. It means there will be no official executive residence in the province. His Honor receives an annual salary of $9,000 from the federal government and Ottawa will have to provide him with writing paper and so on. This saving made by closing Government House as an official residence will be offset by an almost equal amount voted by the members to increase their own indemnities.

Reporters witnessed a method of trial new to most of them at least under the Union Jack, Thursday, when one of the accredited members of the Alberta Legislative Press gallery, Don

C. Brown, internationally known newsman, reporter and political columnist, author of "Under the Dome," in the Edmonton Journal was hauled before the house committee on privileges and elections found guilty of what Social Credit-ers called misrepresentation, and sentenced to Lethbridge jail for an indefinite period of time, "during the pleasure of the House."

But Mr. Brown wasn't arrested, and he didn't get to Lethbridge jail. Because the legislature turned the whole thing over to Speaker Rev. Peter Dawson, and Mr. Dawson did not sign the warrant for Mr. Brown to be arrested before the House met Friday afternoon and decided to do a right about face and release Mr. Brown. Theories were plentiful as to the real cause for this sudden change of heart on the part of the legislature, but only the Social Credit members know the real reasons. It was all settled, as usual, behind the speechless walls of the caucus. Rumor says all wasn't calm and serene when the M. L. A.'s caucused before the house met Friday to talk matters over. Observers wondered why they had to talk it over, since reports were flying thick and fast that they had decided exactly what they would do with Mr. Bowen before the committee met Thursday.

The whole thing started over an incident in the legislature on March 16. The House was in committee discussing the workmen's Compensation Act. Chairman of that committee, Fred Anderson, had moved to cut out the phrase "medical aid" and make it "remedial aid" in view of the representations made by chiropractors. D. J. L. Robinson Social Credit, Medicine Hat, a chiropractor in private life, rose from his seat three times and assured Mr. Anderson he would support his committee. But the committee found itself opposed by A. J. Hooke, Social Credit, Red Deer. Mr. Hooke didn't want the word "remedial," at all. He wanted the word "chiropractor" in that bill. And the third time Dr. Robinson was on his feet to tell the house and the world he was supporting Mr. Anderson, he added a few words to say he would also vote for Mr. Hooke's sub-amendment if it came to a vote—which he didn't, because Dr. W. W. Cross, Minister of Health, finally stepped into the fray and moved still another amendment.

Next day, Don C. Brown, writing under the pen-name of "Decibels" in "Under the Dome" in the Journal, said:

"Red Deer's Mr. Hooke made a gallant effort Wednesday, (March 16), to have chiropractors included, specifically, in the provisions for treatment under the Workmen's Compensation act.

"But found himself opposed by the one chiropractor in the house — Medicine Hat's Dr. Robinson."

Next day after this appeared, Dr. Robinson asked the house to refer the whole thing to the committee on elections and privileges. The house did. It would be quite safe to say the press gallery was unanimous in supporting Brown's interpretation of Dr. Robinson's attitude toward the Hooke motion — at least until he got up the third time and said he supported both amendments.

Buried under the Brown case was the introduction of a new tax on banks. Hon. E. C. Manning, Provincial Secretary gave first reading to a bill to "temporarily increase taxation on banks" late Thursday night. It will produce another $100,000 over the $220,000 now being paid by the chartered banks doing business in the Province. Of course, the government had hoped to collect the $220,000 that big bill they passed last fall would have given. Had the lieutenant-governor not reserved assent on it, and had the Supreme Court of Canada recently not found it ultra vires.

A new Social Credit bill came in last week. This one is called briefly the "realization" act. That is, by the government. Lawyers have another name for it. They call it the 'propaganda' act. Because it takes out of the constitutionally endangered bill the powers of the Social Credit

BORROWING AT THE BANK to meet increased demand

Retail Stores, subject to the caprices of style and taste, frequently find it necessary to buy certain goods which have caught the fancy of the shoppers, despite the shelves and windows full of necessary, staple supplies. Borrowing to meet present demand for "specialties" is constructive borrowing, because it serves to please and hold customers for the "staples," increasing profits.

Wholesale Houses, dependent upon retailers' orders for popular goods, often have to place increased orders with the manufacturer. Borrowing to pay for such immediately salable goods is "good business" — increases profits.

Manufacturers, called upon to increase their output of popular goods, must buy new supplies of raw material, hire more workers. To meet the increased demand, they too may borrow — and increase their profits.

The Bank of Montreal welcomes applications for loans with such constructive objects.

Monty Wallace has just arrived in California, having broken the East-West cross country airplane record. Natalie Wade, mis taken by him for a newspaper reporter, writes the exclusive account of Monty's arrival, and succeeds in securing a trial job with a paper in exchange for the story. Natalie becomes attached to Monty.

Although she discovers Monty's love for her is not sincere, Natalie admits that she loves him. She is assigned by her paper to report Monty's activities for publication. Jimmy Hale, the newspaper's photographer, becomes Natalie's co-worker.

Natalie interviews Jabe Marion, a wealthy airplane builder, who decides to build a record-breaking 'round the world plane for Monty. Marion's daughter, Sunny, exquisitely beautiful, is attracted to Monty. She invites Natalie to dine with her, when they meet the aviator unexpectedly.

Natalie discovers that Sunny is jealous of her friendship with Monty, and that she is trying to prevent them from being alone. After driving to a mountain resort with Sunny and Jimmy, Monty again declares his love for Natalie.

Sunny attempts to drive Natalie from Monty's attention by Strength surged into Natalie like a miracle. Sunny forgot herself and danced so madly that they thought she would hurl herself from the rock in her ecstasy.

Then they were all three running for Jimmy's car, and Jimmy drove them straight to the flying field.

There the news was pouring in. Monty himself stood at the elbow of one of those short-wave operators on the other side of the world. He had fought his way through the wilderness sometimes afoot, sometimes in a peasant's wagon, at last in a puffing Russian train with no one aboard who could speak a word of English.

He had reached the Siberian control and had flashed the story of his safety. He was there now letting the world know and Natalie, piecing together the bits that came from the humming receivers through the lips of one small radio operator, was writing the big account of her life.

Mack Hanlon was rushing out an extra at the other end of the telephone. Jimmy had flashed him before he raced to tell Sunny. He had tried to call Natalie but could get no answer. Now he was reading Natalie's story line by line, to Hanlon.

Monty Wallace would complete his flight and try again at once a few minutes in silence. Then: "How come you and Sunny Marion got so thick up there on that rock? I thought you hadn't been seeing much of each other."

"Oh that just some more of the craziness. She's got it too, poor kid. I wonder sometimes if she hasn't got it the worst of us all."

"Don't worry about her, Nat," Jimmy rejoined. "She'll take care of herself. She forgets quick."

"That's a gift, Jimmy, I think. That's pure genius, if you ask me. Come on. Let's go some where and try forgetting."

It had been so long since she and Jimmy had spent an evening together that the girl was surprised at the invitation. There was no sign that she could find during that evening that Jimmy remembered at all his love for Natalie Wade.

It was an evening she was to recall afterward, an evening she often wondered about.

There was a delay of two days before Monty resumed his flight. He clicked it off then in amazing fashion. Station after station reported him. Each time the refueling was a success. Each time he made the next control almost exactly on schedule.

It was as though the elements having done their worst and failed to put him out of the running had now given up and were willing to let him come through.

When it was clear that he would finish easily, Natalie and Jimmy started East with the Marions to meet him. The girl reporter felt as though her heart would burst when she saw him again. But she hung to her self-control as well as she could and managed to make the trip without revealing the tumult within her.

WEEKLY LETTER

Enquiries are frequently received at the Lethbridge Experimental Station as to the possibilities of growing soybeans in Alberta.

In answering such enquiries attention must be drawn to the fact that in eastern Canada and in the United States where soybeans can be grown very successfully climatic conditions are very different from those prevailing in Alberta. Soybeans require much the same sort of growing season as does corn. Many different varieties have been tested at the Lethbridge Experimental Station during the past eight or ten years and only two varieties namely Wisconsin, Early Black & Manitoba Brown, have been found sufficiently early to ripen each season. Soybeans cannot compete with alfalfa as a hay crop on irrigated land, and on dry land, oats or some other cereal crop cut as greenfeed would probably give a greater yield of hay. When they are allowed to ripen and are fed in the ground form they may be used for any kind of live stock except fattening hogs. The objection in this case being their tendency to produce soft pork.

The two varieties mentioned above may be grown in southern Alberta with fair success but yields such as those obtained in warmer climates should not be expected here.

WILL PLOUGHLESS FALLOWING CONTROL WILD OATS

Sometimes in attempting to solve one farm problem the answer to another is accidentally discovered. An example of this is found in the help provided by ploughless fallowing in controlling wild oats. Ploughless fallowing has been widely developed to preserve trash covers for preventing soil drifting and it has been observed that wild oats are disappearing or have completely vanished from fields that have not been ploughed for several years.

This is accomplished, undoubtedly, by keeping the oats near the surface where it will germinate ate instead of turning it under with a plough to lay dormant until the next ploughing brings it near the surface where it can germinate and again infest the field.

Do You Realize The Value Of Good Irrigated Pastures?

At the Lethbridge Experimental Station an acre of permanent irrigated pasture yielded This was the average for 10.6 acres.

DO YOU KNOW that listing shovels will adapt your stiff-toothed Field Cultivator for emergency drifting control?

Remove all shovels and equip the machine with listing shovels on the rear row of shanks only, at approximately 3-foot intervals. Badly drifting fields listed with this machine deeply enough to bring up clods of earth have been held successfully. If clods wear down and the soil again drifts, it will be caught in the furrows and held at home. If the furrows fill up level the field can be relisted. Members of Agricultural Improvement Associations throughout southern Alberta saved several thousands of acres in 1937 by this method and the practice is growing in favour due to its efficiency and economy.

During a flag day, one of the pretty sellers approached a cross looking man who sat at the wheel of a luxurious car. "Will you buy a flag for the hospital, please?" she asked.

"No, thanks," came the surly reply. "I contribute regularly to the hospital."

"Ah!" put in the girl sweetly, but we're collecting money today, not pedestrians."

EDMONTON

It was Sunday afternoon, and little Thomas opened the door to reveal the minister.

"Is your father at home?" inquired the visitor.

"No, he's not home," said little Thomas. "He's just gone over to the golf club." Then Thomas, noticing the look of commiseration and long-suffering piety on the minister's face, hastened to add, "Oh, it's all right—he's not playing golf. He wouldn't think of that on Sunday. He's just gone over for a few drinks and a game of poker."

PARROT WAS IMPRESSED

A parrot was sitting in a salon of a luxurious liner watching a magician do tricks. The magician served notice that he was now going to do a trick never before accomplished. He pulled up his sleeves and proceeded to make a few fancy gestures. Just at that moment the ship's boilers blew up. Five minutes later, as the parrot came to, floating on a piece of driftwood, he muttered: "Damn clever, damn clever."

Monty himself, stood at the elbow of the short-wave operator.

climbing a high wall. She almost loses her balance and is pulled back by Monty. Jimmy later asks Natalie to consider his love for her if she refuses Monty.

Natalie induces Monty to set out with her in an airplane search for two missing aviators. At dusk Monty lands the plane in the open country, where he and Natalie must spend the night.

Resuming the search in the morning, they finally locate the fliers. Natalie wires the story to her paper. That night at dinner, Marion announces a non-stop 'round the world flight, with Monty piloting the new plane, 'Sunny Marion.'

Monty's plan is to have ten re-fuelling stations along the route, where pilots are to go aloft to refuel his plane. Monty flies with Natalie to New York, where he will begin the flight eastward. They are followed by Jimmy and Sunny.

The day before the flight, Monty once more declares his love to Natalie.

But Natalie knew what he came to say and perhaps Sunny knew as well. For nothing else could have rent him to them in such mad haste.

"Monty's safe," Natalie cried out. "Is that it, Jimmy?"

He nodded his head, gasping. And then the two seized him and pummeled him till he actually could not get the words out.

"Just like Jimmy Mattern," he sobbed out presently. "He was down twelve days before he could get word out. Some little place in Siberia. The Russians flew over twice hunting for him but he couldn't make them see him."

J. A. MUEHLING, PUBLISHER OF THE MANCHESTER (N. H.) UNION, SAYS:

THAT the newspaper is the peoples' most important rallying point.

A newspaper, properly run, is the safety valve on the public steamboiler.

A newspaper improperly supported by a community can be, and usually is a most dangerous thing to the peace and tranquility of such community.

A newspaper is a public service and as such has a heavy responsibility. This responsibility cannot come to fruition without full public support.

A newspaper is the most intimate thing that comes into the family. It contains the intimate things about neighbors, friends, the community, the state, the nation and the world at large. OTHER MEANS OF CONTACT WITH CONSUMERS MAY SEEM IMPORTANT TO AN ADVERTISER, BUT THEY ARE NOT INTIMATE, AND THEREFORE LESS SUCCESSFUL.
